

GRANT WRITING SERVICES

From writing and obtaining grants for our clients to designing and managing projects funded by grants, McCormick Taylor knows what is required to be selected for a grant and how to meet the myriad requirements that are associated with them. Our staff includes grant writers and managers who have worked on and written everything from transportation and multimodal grants to housing and urban development and environmental grants. McCormick Taylor has experience applying for grants from the federal government, state governments, private foundations, and corporate philanthropy. Our internal Grant Team has developed a spreadsheet of available multidisciplinary grants and grantors for Pennsylvania and many other states along the east coast.

NEW JERSEY GRANTS

The NJ DOT Local Aid Resource Center is a new statewide effort designed to serve the needs of the 21 counties and 565 local governments throughout the state. The center assists the community by guiding grant applications and the project delivery process while enhancing collaboration with the common goal of a connected and efficient transportation network. McCormick Taylor was chosen to develop a website for the center as part of an overall communications effort. The site features detailed information on each of the grant programs, both State and Federal, including latest news, grant announcements, handbooks, forms, a deadline calendar and more.
